

9th and 10th Grade Plan

FILL IN TOGETHER

What to do in the two years before anybody starts talking about college. Almost everything that limits a senior's options was decided in ninth and tenth grade.

When: The earlier the better — this is where the options are created

The things that quietly matter most

- ☐ Take the maths sequence seriously — it gates more majors than anything else
- ☐ Start a language and keep going; most colleges want two or three years
- ☐ Protect the GPA from the first term. It is an average, and early marks never leave it.
- ☐ Find one activity and stay with it, rather than joining six
- ☐ Read things that are not assigned
- ☐ Learn how to email an adult properly

Courses to plan now

| Subject | 9th | 10th | 11th (planned) | 12th (planned) |
|---------|-----|------|----------------|----------------|
|         |     |      |                |                |
|         |     |      |                |                |
|         |     |      |                |                |
|         |     |      |                |                |
|         |     |      |                |                |
|         |     |      |                |                |

Free things worth doing before junior year

- ☐ Take a free career interest assessment
- ☐ Visit any college campus at all, even one nearby, just to see one
- ☐ Ask three adults what their job is really like
- ☐ Open a savings account in the student's name
- ☐ Find out whether the school offers dual enrolment or free community college credit

WORTH KNOWING

- ◆ Dual enrolment can knock a term or a year off the bill. Ask in ninth grade, not eleventh.
- ◆ Depth beats breadth. Three years of one thing says more than one year of five.
- ◆ A ninth-grade GPA cannot be re-taken. It can only be averaged with.
